

SERIES: WHEN RELIGION MEETS POLITICS

Episode 1: "Nothing Divides Like Politics"

Is it possible to disagree with someone politically and yet love them unconditionally?

	QUESTIONS	NOTES
01	What do you look forward to most—and dread most—about presidential election years?
02 >>>	Outside of your workplace, think about the people you interact with most. What percentage of those people think pretty much the same way as you politically?
03	Do you find it difficult to engage in conversations with people who disagree with you politically? How do these conversations typically go?
04	Do you agree or disagree that Christians must be willing to evaluate their politics through the filter of their faith? Why or why not?
05 >>>>	What does unconditional love mean to you? Do you believe it's possible to love someone unconditionally? Why or why not?

BOTTOM LINE

Disagree politically. Love unconditionally.

Learn something new? Have any epiphanies? Tweet your story and tag us @YourMove.