

SERIES: WHEN RELIGION MEETS POLITICS

Episode 2: "Choosing Sides"

Churches and faith communities aren't immune to political divisiveness. So how, and why, should Christians from both sides of the aisle pursue unity?

QUESTIONS

- When you're with family, do you discuss politics or avoid it? Would you like that to change one way or the other? Why or why not?
- When you're presented with new information that doesn't fit into your current views, how do you respond?
- Have you been guilty of burning a relational bridge over a political disagreement? Explain.
- In the words of Rufus Miles,
 "Where you stand depends on where you sit." Consider someone you disagree with politically. How might their past experiences have shaped their views?
- How would you rate your ability to empathize with and understand someone else's perspective? What could you do to improve in this area?

NOTES

BOTTOM LINE

Listen to people who don't experience the world the way you do.

Learn something new? Have any epiphanies? Tweet your story and tag us @YourMove.